

Healing For Your Pain

Verse 1:

I know you're hurting the circumstance didn't go as planned
You've searched for answers but you cannot understand
Many nights you've cried yourself to sleep
Wondering if you'll ever find some peace

Chorus:

But there is joy in your mourning
There is peace through the storm
There is love everlasting
For the weary & the worn
There is grace that is greater
Than any sin you could attain
There is hope for the journey
And there is healing for your pain

Verse 2:

You just can't quite forget all the times you've been done wrong
Your bleeding heart regrets that it's gone on for so long
Many times you've asked "God where are you?"
While you beg and pray just to get through

Chorus:

But there is joy in your mourning
There is peace through the storm
There is love everlasting
For the weary & the worn
There is grace that is greater
Than any sin you could attain
There is hope for the journey
And there is healing for your pain

Tag:

There is grace that is greater
Than any sin you could attain
There is hope for the journey
And there is healing for your pain
There is hope for the journey
And there is healing for your pain